

"A penny for your thoughts"

Ivanka: (I wonder if the pope would endorse a line of veils, you know, floral patterns... nothing religious... I'll make them in China... probably can't "Trump" brand them, though... that's not working well these days)

Melania: (as god is my witness, if that pig bribes the concierge to let him into my room again, I will flay him with a steak knife!)

Trump: (I'm terrific!)

Pope: (holy mother of god, this man's a moron... I thought I told the camerlengo to get me outta here with a phone call... dear lord, I know you move in mysterious ways, but is this your idea of a joke?... that poor woman, I wonder how long the pre-nup required her to do it with him before she vested? ...oh well, there goes the planet... which reminds me, I gotta find out how high above sea level the Vatican is...do I smell sulfur?)